Day of The Lord - The Day of The Lord

By Dan Maines

The Day of The Lord

God NEVER made a Coming in judgment, in bodily form, EVERY TIME it was SPIRITUAL.

The bible tells us "The Day of the Lord" is "Judgment". "The Day of The Lord" was never referred to as a physical, literal return of the Lord. "The Day of The Lord" has always referred to the Lord's judgment upon a city or nation of people. It refers to a destruction from God. "The Day of The Lord" and "the Lord riding on a swift cloud refers to judgment. God used one nation to overtake another.

Isaiah 19:1; Ezekiel 30:3-4 - Destruction of Egypt, Judgment fulfilled in 570 BC

Isaiah 13:1,6-9 - Destruction of Babylon, Judgment fulfilled in 539 BC

Zephaniah 1:4,7,14-15 -Destruction of Jerusalem, Judgment fulfilled in 586 BC

Amos 5:18-20 - Destruction of Israel, Judgment fulfilled in 722 BC

Matthew 21:43, 22:7, 24 - Destruction of Jerusalem, Judgment fulfilled in 70 AD.

Jesus came in Judgment in 70AD just like the father did in the Old Testament. It brought an end to the Old Covenant Age. The Day of The Lord referred to as God's judgment upon a nation of people.

Jesus was given authority to judge in the same way as the Father. John 5:19-22 So, if Jesus was to judge in the same way as the Father, then again, it would be spiritual.
Matthew 24:3, "...And what will be the sign of Your coming..."

The Greek word for "coming" is "parousia". This Greek word means "arrival or presence," it does not mean "return." The bible never speaks of a future physical return of Christ. Other than the Tanakh, the disciples knew of one "parousia" the destruction of Jerusalem.

So we have at least five known parousia's. Each time God came in judgment was "The Day of The Lord"

Scripture tells us Jesus had come the same way the Father did.

Which was never referred to a physical, literal return of the Lord.

There were five Coming in judgments that I know of. And everyone of them were spiritual. The only place in the bible that says He would return a second time is in Hebrews 9:28 And that was to complete our salvation.
