Fulfilled Prophecies has grown quickly, and with growth comes the need for clearer boundaries so discussion stays productive. Please review the revised rules at the bottom.

This group exists for biblical discussion, especially eschatology, with a strong emphasis on learning, interaction, and respectful debate. Disagreement is welcome. Personal attacks, drive by posting, and link dropping are not.

Some expectations have been clarified so members can clearly understand where we're headed as a group. This doesn't change the purpose of this group, it reinforces it.

This is a Christian biblical discussion group. Promotion of Israel Only, the Quran, Muhammad, or Islamic theology isn't allowed.

Discussion from differing Christian viewpoints is welcome, but recruiting or pushing a system isn't.

This group is built around Scripture. If you're here only to share opinions or traditions without engaging the Bible, you're not here to learn or help others learn. Scripture must be the foundation of our discussions.

Comments or questions posted as sarcasm, slogans, or one line opinions without Scripture don't contribute to discussion and will be removed.

Posting is for conversation. If you share links or content, you're expected to stay and engage in the comments.

Video posts are limited for newer members. Video posting may be allowed after participation. You must be pre approved to post videos and video links. We don't have the time to review every video, and we can't know what appears later in a video. For that reason, please post in text form until we get to know you.

Posting and commenting privileges may be adjusted as the group continues to grow.

If you want to learn, discuss Scripture, and engage respectfully, you're welcome here.

Thank you to those who help make this group a place of real conversation.
